

Submission Guidelines for Wishbone Words

Please take the time to fully read our submission guidelines. Any piece that does not conform to these guidelines will be declined. If you have questions or concerns after reading these guidelines, please reach out to us, and we will be happy to communicate with you. This is a volunteer-run magazine, so please be patient with our response time, as most of the team members have other daily obligations and health concerns in addition to working to bring this magazine to life. It may take us some time to read and reply to all of our messages – be it through email or socials. Thank you.

General Submission Guidelines:

- ★ Language/ Use of Derogatory Terms/ Profanity: Please remember your submission is being read by a human being who has feelings and emotions. We will not publish hateful or hurtful works. If you have to ask if it's hateful/hurtful, you should probably revise it before submitting. Additionally, we do not publish racist, transphobic, ableist, or otherwise damaging content. Use your best judgment and, when in doubt, give content warnings for readers or ASK.
- ★ Simultaneous Submissions: Simultaneous subs are okay, but please let us know if your piece gets accepted elsewhere so it can be withdrawn from our submissions pile.
- ★ Re-submissions: If we have declined your piece for an issue, please respect our decision. You are welcome to work on revising the piece and try resubmitting during our next submission window, and we will happily read your revised work.
- ★ Submitting After Publication: The Wishbone team encourages previous contributors to submit to future issues if they have more writing they would like to share. However, being a previous contributor does not guarantee publication, and the piece of writing/artwork must go through the general submissions queue to make it into the magazine.
- ★ Payment: At this time, we cannot pay contributors. Our staff is currently all volunteers, and the money we make from selling copies goes toward website maintenance. However, contributors will receive free access to their issue of the magazine.

- ★ Socials: If you have social media, please let us know which of your accounts you would like us to share in the magazine upon publication.
- ★ Submission Window and Publication Dates: We publish two issues per year. In 2024, we will launch in May and November. The submission period for the May issue has passed. The submission window for the November issue will open March 1st until May 30th.
- ★ Turn-around Time: Please be patient. Allow up to several months to be notified of whether your submission has been accepted or rejected. We will not be sending acceptance or rejection emails until a few weeks after the submission periods close. While we read through submissions, please do not ask us about your piece's status on social media or through email. The more people who reach out, the less time we have to dedicate to reading through the queue.
- ★ Remember: Just like our contributors, everyone who volunteers their time to Wishbone Words has their own health struggles. Please be respectful with our team members when communicating on social media or through email. We love to hype up past and current contributors, so if you are being published elsewhere, tag us – we love to see it!
